

To Our Veterans

Since we became an independent country, many years have come and gone. However, there is one constant that remains from the 1700's through today. Our country has had many brave men and women volunteer to defend our country.

These men and women come from all over our country and too many times have been taken for granted. Men and women, who during times of war and peace, are on call 24 hours a day, 7 days a week and spend holidays, birthdays, and special events away from their family and friends.

They are mothers, fathers, aunts, uncles, sons, daughters, brothers, sisters, cousins, and friends. We may not always agree with the wars that we fight, but this should not deter us from the support we give to these men and women in uniform. It is through the sacrifice that they and the numerous individuals before them have made, that provides us with the freedom we have to disagree and speak our objections.

Words cannot pay what we owe these individuals and their families, so we say "thank you" for your sacrifice and service to our country. Let us never forget the people who did not make it home. We must also keep those still serving in our thoughts and never take for granted the sacrifices they make. In closing, one more time, we would like to say.....

Thank you!
